Why care about your child's education ?

Research has shown that successful students have strong academic support and involvement from family members.

A study showed that students with more parental involvement behaved better in school and at home.

Because you want your child to be the best person your child can be.

It's your tax dollars at work.

Recent Projects

Educated school community about autism awareness during the month of April

Set up SAIL so students with disabilities will be more actively engaged in school and extracurricular activities.

What do the parents who are in the Kohler Parent Advisory Committee do?

We help the School District understand issues as parents see them.

We hear about projects and activities the School District is implementing for our children.

We discuss questions about special education, IEPs, and other issues that affects our families.

We hear about new programs and directives from the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction and other organizations.

We come together to find other parents who understand the challenges and rewards of being a parent with a child in special education.

Why should you join the Kohler Parent Advisory Committee?

- To provide input on how to make you and your child's experience at school a positive experience.
- Because you care about your child's education.
- Opportunities to meet other parents who may have similar experiences that may help you with your child.
- Every parent is equal here and your issues are equally important.
- Find out about resources that will help your child's education and you, as a parent.
- Because you care about the Kohler School District.
